Command IT Services has been our IT service provider for several years and since then we have never looked back. They have always acted in our best interests and provided support and advice enabling our company to operate and grow. Before Command IT Services, we were having constant internet issues and VPN connectivity problems. With the right computing solution recommended and installed it has been reliable and hassle free.

Command IT Services have always provided a fast and efficient service. Through our support agreement they monitor our servers so we always know if there are any issues ahead of time.

Without hesitation I would highly recommend Command IT Services to anyone.

Sincerely

Brian Johnston
